

YOUNG PEOPLE HAVE A VOICE THAT NEEDS TO BE HEARD!

What?

PACT Youth Advocates is seeking young people ages 13-18, with diverse life experiences. This coalition is supported by the Weld County Department of Public Health and Environment. Youth advocates will work with adults to identify tobacco issues in Weld County and to promote ways to prevent future tobacco use among young people.

Why?

Young people are the experts! Research shows that youth tobacco prevention strategies that involve youth are more successful. Young people are able to provide valuable insight into what is effective and important among their peers, have credibility among their peers, and have creative and energizing ideas!

What will young people get out of it? Youth will have the opportunity to:

- Improve leadership and communication skills
- Be involved and create positive change in your community
- Gain experience in advocacy, public speaking, event planning, and more
- Make decisions about topics that affect you
- Increase your knowledge of tobacco issues
- Meet other youth in your community
- Enhance college or job applications; meet community service or volunteer needs

When and Where?

PACT Youth Advocates will meet twice a month in the following communities:
Greeley/Evans and Fort Lupton.

How can I get more info?

Greeley/Evans:
Kat Ventoruzzo
Text 970-775-4488
kventoruzzo@weldgov.com

Fort Lupton:
Corrie Groesbeck
970-304-6470 x 8850
cgroesbeck@weldgov.com

www.tfcweldcounty.com/pact

Updated 7/27/15

